Anti-Treating League.

A new organization, one which while not looking toward total abstinence takes a middle-of-the-road path between that and inebriety, has been formed in Denver. It is called the "Anti-Treating League," and Michael J. O'Connor is the father of it. With eleven friends he undertook the organization and communicated the objects of the movement to the various pastors of Denver. Last Sunday in all the churches the priests announced the organization of the Anti-Treating League, and spoke a few words laudatory of its proposed work.

Father H. L. McMenamin of the cathedral parish, a strong temperance advocate, said: "While it may not be considered wrong by a young man to take a drink occasionally, the treating habit is almost sure to make a drunkard of him. Tolerating just the example of five young men entering a saloon together. The first orders drinks for all. Then the second has to treat, then the third, the fourth and the fifth until by the time these young men leave, they are pretty sure to be quite under the influence of alcohol."

"How absurd it would be for those five men to go into a restaurant together if each one of them tried to 'treat' to roast beef. It is the same thing. What is the sense in taking five drinks just because each of the five men thinks it incumbent upon him to 'treat'?"

The Anti-Treating League has a small button all designed and the members will wear it conspicuously. It will be regarded by them as a shield and will make plain the objects of the organization.

Mrs. Russell Turner ill.

The doctors hold out no hope for her recovery, for the white plague has fastened itself upon her and she has no strength to fight. Her husband, also an invalid, although not so far gone as his wife, has contracted malaria and is unable to work.

There are two little children, aged 6 and 2 years, and there is nothing for them to eat.

The family lives at 134 South Broadway, and the father until recently was able to support them as a millhand. For days they have lived on bread alone, but the Queen's Daughters, hearing of their plight, lent a helping hand. The philanthropic committee called on the Turners and learned from the pallid lips of the woman her story of suffering. Eight weeks ago she came from Richmond, Va., for the benefit of her health, but she was too far gone for any radical improvement.

Now she wants to go back. Her mother and sister will look after the little ones down there, and the father will be able to obtain work.

It will cost about $150 to pay for transportation back east, and the Queen's Daughters have undertaken to raise this amount. They made an appeal through the Post, and subscriptions are being received by Mrs. Edward J. Weekbaugh of 1144 Pearl street, chairman of the philanthropic committee.

The honorary members have been generous in the matter.

Catholic Young Men's Club.

Among the many events in celebration of Colorado day, the picnic given by the Catholic Young Men's Club at Eldorado Springs received its full share of patronage, and was pronounced a complete success by all who were present. The day had been prepared an excellent program, and the award of prizes met with unanimous approval. Besides the usual running and jumping contests, the tempting pools of warm water under the big trees, the swimming races, which were watched with great interest and also a tub race, which was perhaps the most amusing feature on the program.

The priests of the city who have given such moral and financial support to the club ever since its organization, were well represented on the grounds.

St. Vincent's Orphanage Picnic.

Preparations are well under way for the great annual picnic for St. Vincent's orphanage, which will be given at Manhattan Beach on Saturday, Aug. 10. Mrs. J. C. Martin, president of St. Vincent's Aid society, and the general manager of the picnic, are so busy assisting her, that they are highly gratified at the interest that is being shown by all who have been asked to contribute to the success of the worthy cause. There was a meeting Wednesday evening, June 21, at the home of Mrs. P. V. Carlin, 1406 Stout street, of the board of committee, and the enthusiasm manifested on that occasion augurs well for the success of the picnic.

Queen of Heaven Society.

On Tuesday afternoon, July 30, the members of the Queen of Heaven association met at the home of Mrs. Pasquale Corte, 1010 Pennsylvania avenue, and discussed plans for a picnic for the benefit of Regina Caeli orphanage in North Denver, conducted by the missionary sisters of the Sacred Heart, familiarly known as the Italian Sisters. These sisters have had a constant struggle ever since their arrival in Denver, and nevertheless have been able to accomplish much good in the Italian colony. The picnic will be held the last week in August.

Queen's Daughters.

The Queen's Daughters met Saturday afternoon at the home of the president, Miss Mary Ryan, on Olive street in Montclair, for the purpose of making arrangements to assist the members of St. Vincent's Aid society in the coming picnic for the benefit of St. Vincent's orphanage. This organization of young women lent valuable aid in making the picnic of last year a success, and are determined to repeat their triumph on this occasion.

Sacred Heart Aid Society.

The Sacred Heart Ladies' Aid society will meet on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 8, at the home of Mrs. M. C. Harrington, 224 Seventeenth avenue.

Church Notes.

Rev. Father O'Neill, O. P., pastor of St. Dominic's church, returned during the week from a vacation spent in New York, Chicago and other eastern cities.

Right Rev. Bishop Hartley of Columbus, O., was in Denver last Sunday. During his brief stay the bishop showed him over the city, and he expressed his great surprise and pleasure at the number of our Catholic buildings, churches, schools, hospitals and orphanages.

Mother Irene, mother general of the Sisters of Charity, left Sunday for her home in Leavenworth, Kan., after spending a week at St. Joseph's hospital in Denver.

Wedding Bells.

Only within the past few days did friends learn that Miss Mary E. Stanton and Edward S. Zerwekh were quietly married by Rev. H. L. McMenamin of Logan Avenue chapel on Monday, July 23. The young people are enjoying their honeymoon at Eldorado Springs. Mr. Zerwekh is a designer in the employ of the Garlock Packing company. Mrs. Zerwekh, whose home is at 539 Seventeenth avenue, was a stenographer in the employ of the Columbia Phonograph company.

Personal.

Mrs. Ernest Scheinling and daughter, Miss Annie Scheinling, of Rapid City, S. D., are the guests of Mrs. Scheinling's sister, Mrs. John J. Haggus, 1929 Washington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Reddin and children are spending a few weeks at Grand Lake.

Miss Clara Malley was one of many Denverites who went to Cheyenne for Frontier Day.

Miss Theresa O'Neil and her brother Edward have returned from a pleasant visit to Georgetown, Colo.

Mrs. William Sayre of 1361 Pennsylvania avenue entertained charmingly Tuesday afternoon, July 30, at a tea, complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Edwin Wagner of St. Louis, who, with her children, is spending the heated term at her home in Denver.

Miss Florentine Mannig, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mannig, has gone to the Atlantic coast for the summer.

The Misses Gertrude and Sadie Tobin, who went east with their father, Patrick Tobin, early in the summer, are now at Muskoka lake, Ontario, and having a delightful time.

Mrs. Bernadine O'Neil is the house guest of her aunt, Miss Anna O'Neil.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sheedy and the Misses Marie and Florence Sheedy, will sail for home the latter part of August.

A goodly number of Knights of Columbus and their families left Denver Friday on the special train to attend the annual convention of the order at Norfolk, Va.

Miss Cunningham of Memphis, who has been visiting her cousins, the Misses Nellie, Jennie and Katherine Fisher, of 1240 Pearl street, accompanied them this week on a trip to Yellowstone Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen Smith and little daughter have gone to Long Beach, Cal., to spend the summer months.

On Friday, July 26, Mrs. E. P. McGovern, one of the best friends the orphanage ever had, treated the little ones of St. Vincent's to a day's pleasure at Manhattan Beach.

Mrs. J. J. Dillon and children are enjoying the quiet of Shawnee.

Mrs. William Sheehan of Topeka, Kan., and her sister, Mrs. John Stockberg of Salina, Kan., are here to spend the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner, of 30 Pearl street.

Mrs. Sheehan was Miss Rosetta Wagner, and her marriage was a great social event last year. Bernadette Kaffer of Salina, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, accompanied her aunt and will remain some time.

Miss Blanche Fox is summering at Glen Park.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Fallon are among the sojourners at Grand Lake.

Mrs. Joseph A. O'anner and her niece, Miss Laura Wernet, have returned from a delightful visit to Toledo, O.

Miss Winifred McKinnon is home again after an absence of four months in Kansas City.

Obituary.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Neville, wife of Barron C. Neville, was a particularly sad one. Mrs. Neville was 42 years of age and apparently in the best of health Friday evening, July 26, when, after preparing dinner, she walked down to the gate to meet her husband returning from his day's work. Suddenly, when her husband had approached within ten feet of her, she fell in an unconscious condition and died before medical aid could reach her. Heart disease was pronounced the cause of death. Mrs. Neville had resided in Denver since her girlhood, and was highly respected by all who knew her. Besides the strict and devoted mother, she was a devoted wife. Her husband has five little children left to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted mother. The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon from the family home, 1023 Seventh street. Service was conducted at St. Leo's church by Rev. Father White. Interment was in Mount Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Elliott of 803 Nineteenth street died at her home on Sunday, July 23, and was buried from the church of the Holy Ghost Tuesday morning. Rev. Father Bender saying the funeral service. Interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Abraham O'Farrell died on Saturday, July 27, at St. Joseph's hospital. His funeral was held Monday morning from the hospital chapel, where the chaplain, Rev. Father Timothy O'Brien celebrated requiem mass for the repose of his soul. Interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

The funeral of Thomas Moran of 1047 Kalamath street was held Sunday afternoon from St. Joseph's church. Burial was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

James E. Sullivan, who came to Denver from New York some months ago in search of health, left for his home on Thursday, July 25, after abandoning all hope of recovery. The many friends he made during his stay here were shocked next day to hear that he had passed away on the train before reaching Chicago.

EVANSTON, WYO.

Frank Maher, Dave Miller and "Joe" Cashin are visiting at Salt Lake. Fred Blackham has been acting as roadmaster's clerk during the absence of the former.

The lawn social on Monday evening by the Catholic ladies was a huge success. The decorations were red, white and blue bunting, and the bright illumination from two locomotive headlights the ladies of the church served ice cream, cake and coffee to a large gathering of people. Orchestral music and the services were admirable. The banquet was one of the best appointed ever held in Margery hall.

The program of toasts was interesting, entertaining, and each response was hearty and happily received.

Among those who delivered short addresses at the banquet were Senator Tobin, H. C. Fink and Thomas Fenlon of Montrose; Rev. Father McCormick of Colorado Springs; Father Cook of Delta; and Rev. Father Conway of this city. Messrs. John O'Boyle, Edward Ryan and other local gentlemen, Frank E. Dean was toastmaster, and naturally he filled that difficult office and station with ease and eminent satisfaction to all.

It was 10 o'clock when the guests left the banquet board, and it was about 1 o'clock when the special train left the city, carrying the O'uray, Montrose, Delta and other delegations to their homes. Some of the visitors, including those from Leadville, Colorado Springs and Glenwood, remained over until Monday.

All the visitors were most enthusiastic over the manner in which they were treated here. They declared they were never more happily entertained.

It was a joyous day, not only for the visiting knights and ladies, but for the local knights and their ladies as well.—Daily Sentinel.

Mrs. Margaret Murray, who has been visiting friends in Ogden, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. P. Murray and family will leave shortly for a camping trip in the timber.

Mrs. George O'Hara is visiting with relatives at Randolph, Utah.

Miss Bessie Phalen, who has been visiting Miss Kate Code, returned to her home in Ogden Sunday.

Homor Wright returned home Wednesday on a few days' visit. Mr. Wright holds position of private secretary for the general purchasing agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Mrs. F. C. O'Hara and son, Frederick, arrived in Evanston from White Fish, Mont., where they have been visiting. They will visit in this city for several weeks.

Mrs. Nellie Leonard and family, Miss Mabel Murray, James Murray, Miss Eagan and Miss Lydia Blackham left this week for a two weeks' camping trip at Black's Fork.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stein and daughter, Cecelia, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Rook and daughter, Lyle, will enjoy a trip to Yellowstone park in August.

Mrs. C. C. Collins joined her husband in this city the first of the week. Mr. Collins has been visiting the family of his brother, Mr. C. J. Collins. Mrs. C. Collins will leave shortly for Wells, Nev.

CHEYENNE, WYO.

The social side of Frontier was not neglected this year, and the beauty contest, with its attendant festivities, lent a new touch of interest and many new thrills to the visitors. Cheyenne appreciated the presence in this city of Miss Margaret Frey of Denver, the winner of the Idaho beauty contest, and it was fitting that she should be entertained. Mrs. H. P. Hynds accepted this responsibility and discharged it to the satisfaction of the Frontier committee and to the delight of the Denver young ladies and their escorts.

Upon the arrival of Miss Frey and party Saturday, they were escorted to the beautiful home of Mrs. Hynds on Eighteenth street, where luncheon was served. The following guests were present: Miss Frey, Mrs. Griffin of Denver; Miss Dahlen of Denver; Miss Winifred Woods, Miss Louise Smith, Mr. Paul Bailey, Mr. E. T. Clark, Mr. S. Wilson, Mr. Dan Hynds, Mr. Leavitt of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kennedy and Mr. Harry Robinson. At 10 o'clock the entire party proceeded to the open air pavilion on Eighteenth street, where the beauty contest was to be awarded the prizes.

The multitude present had feasted its eyes for two hours upon the attractive array of girls, and the arrival of Miss Frey, who was crowned queen, was a further enhancement of the pleasure of the evening. Miss Frey was accompanied by the local escort committee, and her friends from Denver, and when the announcement was made that Miss Katherine Mackenzie of Cheyenne had been adjudged the most beautiful girl in the interstate contest the enthusiasm of the multitude ran very high. Miss Mackenzie is the charming 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Mackenzie of 510 West Twenty-first street. Mr. Mackenzie is a driver for the Pacific Express company of this city. Miss Mackenzie attends the city school, and is as bright and charming in manner as she is in form and face.—Cheyenne Tribune.

Bishop J. J. Keane of Cheyenne, whose jurisdiction embraces the entire state of Wyoming, laid the cornerstone of a new cathedral Sunday, July 7. The new edifice is to replace the only church in the episcopal city, a church which was built twenty-seven years ago at a cost of $50,000, and which was so injured by lightning some time since as to be rendered unsafe. The new cathedral will cost about $60,000.

GRAND JUNCTION, COLO.

HAPPY DAY FOR MEMBERS.

It Was Midnight Before Knights of Columbus Concluded Their Work.

That the Grand Junction council of the Knights of Columbus, that great Catholic fraternal organization, entertains most royally has been demonstrated on more than one occasion, but never more completely than last Sunday, when scores of knights and their ladies from other towns flocked to Grand Junction.

As announced, great delegations from Montrose, O'uray, Delta and other points in the section, came in on a special train which arrived about 11 o'clock.

Many knights and ladies came from Leadville and Glenwood, but owing to washout on the line of the Midland they were delayed in reaching the city until in the evening. M. W. Purcell of Colorado Springs, who was to have charge of the putting on of the major degree in the initiatory work, was on an early delayed train.

On the arrival of the special train from O'uray and other towns in that section the visitors and the local knights marched to St. Joseph's cathedral church, where the services of the Grand Junction band headed the line of march.

Following the luncheon the big program of the day opened. The knights of the local council, who were the work of initiating a class of thirty-two candidates for the Grand Junction and Montrose councils was opened. The three degrees were explained in fine shape, the teams doing excellent work. Owing to the late start the initiatory work was not completed until quite a late hour in the night.

During the afternoon the visiting ladies of knights were driven over the city and through the valley, and ladies were taken for drives around and otherwise pleasantly entertained.

Owing to the long delay of the train on which Mr. Purcell and several others who were to assist in the major degree work, it was impossible to put on that part of the work until at night. Consequently the banquet was held at an early hour, earlier than at first arranged, concluded early and then the initiatory work was completed.

Those who were prominent in the initiatory work were W. M. Purcell of Colorado Springs, Patrick Harrington of Leadville, William Dillon of Leadville and other visiting knights, assisted by some of the local knights.

The big banquet, the crowning social feature of the meeting, took place at Margery hall. About ninety knights and their ladies were seated at the banquet board. The menu which had been prepared by the ladies of the church were in charge of the services and naturally the service was admirable. The banquet was one of the best appointed ever held in Margery hall.

The program of toasts was interesting, entertaining, and each response was hearty and happily received.

Among those who delivered short addresses at the banquet were Senator Tobin, H. C. Fink and Thomas Fenlon of Montrose; Rev. Father McCormick of Colorado Springs; Father Cook of Delta; and Rev.
